
Canada Through the Seasons: A Four-Part Series

Studies have shown the importance of providing young children with physical fitness activities, connecting with nature, and the opportunity for engaging in playful experiences outdoors whatever the weather or the season.

This series will focus on each of Canada's four seasons and include thought-provoking discussions, information sharing, and tools and resources for review, as well as curriculum strategies designed to keep children active and engaged in our outdoor environments during all twelve months of the year.

This interactive series will inspire early learning and child care professionals to get outside with the children and explore the great Canadian landscape no matter the season.
