FACILITATING IN A COMMUNITY OF PRACTICE Supporting Infant and Early Years Mental Health in Niagara

"If we want to create a culture of reflective practice and critical thinking, we have to focus on our role in facilitating conversations that can move us. Together we will deepen our understandings of the role of facilitation in promoting group participation, ensuring equity and building trust within a community of learners. We will explore strategies for deep listening, questions that can move us and practice with protocols that can encourage thinking."

This session is designed to support facilitators who will participate in the Infant and Early Years Mental Health Deep Dive Learning Day as well as build capacity to design and support ongoing conversations connected to Infant and Early Years Mental Health in Niagara.
